REPORT NO.

1. For some time the DDR Government has been trying to bring the Weather Service under the control of the People's Police, but has met with considerable resistance from the scientists now in control and so far has been unable to carry the plan through. Within the past two months, however, the Air Arm of the People's Police, the future East German Air Force, has been able to recruit from the Weather Service a nucleus of an "Air Force" Weather Service.
2. This new "Air Force" Weather Service of the People's Police consists of four meteorologists and six technicians. The director of the new service is Dipl. Met. E. Neuber, formerly with the main office of the East Zone Weather Service in Potsdam.
